Bloopers may score big in city

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Will the Romulus City Council "Bloopers and Practical Jokes" video score big on this year's Christmas gift list?

The unlikely possibility was suggested in a joking manner Monday, when city council members attempted to address the video storage overflow problem with the cable video coordinator Oliver Warren.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks asked Warren for his input when the council learned that a storage problem was developing with the numerous city council meeting tapes.

Banks said that in addition to the storage problem, since little use is made of the stored tapes, the cost factor also needed to be addressed.

Warren said he would urge that the first-ever city council meeting tape be saved for historical purposes and portions of tapes that dealt with property development issues should be saved and merged with footage of future actual development activities.

Banks also urged saving the tapes when new council members are sworn in at inaugural meetings from year to year.

Councilman Randolph Gear prompted some laughter from his colleagues when he suggested, "Maybe we could also do one on our best bloopers."

After the laughter subsided, council members authorized Warren to screen the past few years tapes and edit them for historical use. Warren also was urged to re-use those tapes no longer deemed needed for historical or legal reasons.

It also was recommended that city council meeting tapes be kept on file for three months.

City sells more land

A $3,000 offer to purchase a small tract of city-owned land on Van Born Road west of Inkster Road in preparation to construct an industrial building was approved Monday night by members of the Romulus City Council.

The buyer, Robert Baith, had earlier gotten the recommendation from the city property disposition committee as long as Baith and his partners didn't build a junk yard, automobile bump and paint shop or an engine repair shop.

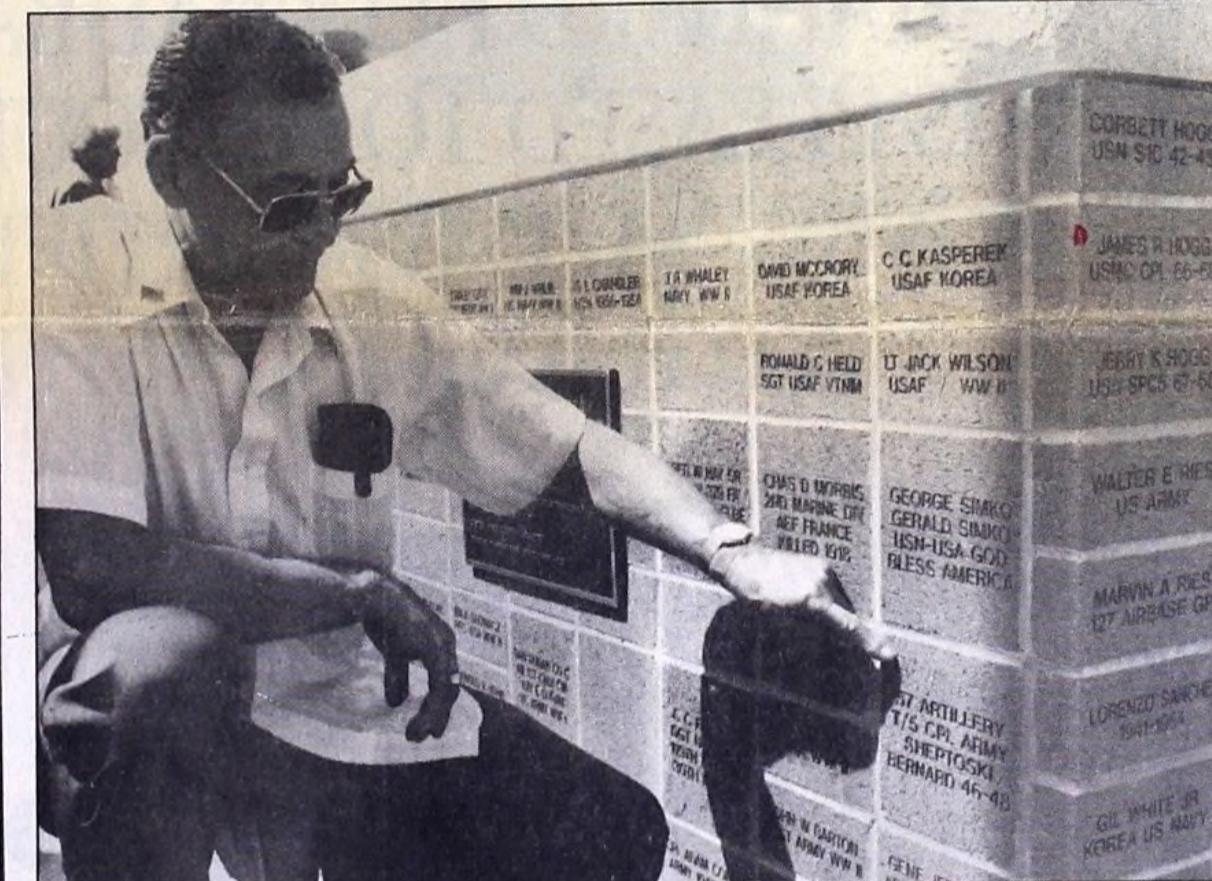

Baith told the council he was concerned about junk yards and had no plans to create such a facility.

"We plan to build our own plant there to design conveyor work and material handling apparatus," Baith said.

Some of the immediate neighborhood is "nasty looking," he said, but vowed his firm planned to construct a "nice looking building and in no way will it look junky."

Baith said most of the major projects his firm plans to create will be on his customer's site and will have no impact on

Joint city-schools effort grows

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Economic Development Corp. is stepping up efforts to coordinate a joint public relations/marketing effort by members of the city council and the Romulus Community School District.

Dennis N. Oakes, EDC secretary and city community development director, wrote to Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell on June 12 asking for permission to speak before the school board at some future date.

Oakes has since been given approval to appear at the July 27 school board meeting. Oakes said he will seek school board involvement in the effort to attract regional and national attention to Romulus as a potential business or residential development location.

Bedell agreed and noted, "Both the city and the school district have a stake in future city development. But we have found that planners many times look to the future, while we have to keep our eye on the concerns of each year's graduates.

"If we can find some middle ground, we could be highly successful in this effort," Bedell said.

Because of the many changes in the area economic climate, Oakes wrote, communities "must compete more effectively to attract new development."

Oakes also will seek $17,000 as the school district share of potential first-year expenses for the marketing/public relations venture.

Other amounts sought are $17,000 as the city share, $15,000 from the EDC, $10,000 in corporate donations and $20,000 in developer donations for a total of $79,000.

Oakes proposal cites the Metro Airport officials plan to spend nearly $1 billion during the next few years for upgrading and expansion of airport facilities.

The outline also states that a private developer has already begun construction of the largest general purpose foreign trade zone in Michigan, eventually encompassing 90 acres with 1 million square feet of construction.

The city is also planning a major exposition center containing 150,000 square feet, Oakes said, and it is hoped the center could attract regional and national trade shows.

Suspect to face assault charge

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 19-year-old former Dearborn Heights woman was arrested by Romulus police Monday and charged with armed robbery and attempting to murder a Waterford couple at the Fairfield Inn on March 20.

The defendant, Stacey Lynn Hubbard, was charged with armed robbery, assault with intent to murder and felony firearm violations.

She was arraigned Monday afternoon in the 34th District Court before Judge Felix Rogalle and ordered held on $60,000 cash bond. A hearing date was set for July 15.

Romulus police aided by Wyandotte officers apprehended Hubbard in the basement of a Wyandotte home.

Romulus police earlier had issued a warrant for Hubbard on the charge of robbing a Waterford couple of $40 in cash and an assortment of credit and automated bank cards.

She also is charged with firing a pistol into the door of the couple's rented apartment and also fired one shot at the husband, who attempted to grab her as she fled with his wife's purse.

Neither the gun, nor the stolen property were recovered, police said.

If convicted, Hubbard faces a life term on two of the charges. The firearms violation also carries a mandatory two year term, police said.

Pennington's request for a resolution was supported by Councilman Russell Lambert and later approved unanimously by council members.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks noted her agreement with the local citizens and said she feels the trains are "getting noisier and noisier as days go by."

Banks cautioned council members regarding any responsibility of the city in the event of a train fatality, but said felt that the railroads could alter the sound level or direction so as not to wake up the sleeping residents.

Councilman Ellis Pennington told council members that he has received repeated complaints from local residents about the "long and loud whistles" by various trains during sleeping hours in Romulus.

Romulus police car involved in high speed rear-end collision

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus police car and an out-of-town ambulance were involved in separate accidents during the holiday weekend, Romulus police said.

Romulus Police Officer James Brake reported he was traveling about 65 mph at 1:30 a.m. Friday, when his police cruiser was struck in the rear by another car.

Brake said he was in the center of three lanes in the eastbound traffic on Route I-94 (west of Inkster Road), when his vehicle was rear-ended.

A 23-year-old Wyandotte man, who police claim was driving in excess of 80 miles per hour, was arrested and charged with drunken driving. He was later released on bond.

Both cars were damaged, but neither driver was injured, police said.

Later Sunday night, an ambulance owned by Community Emergency Medical Services Co. was traveling eastbound on Van Born Road when it collided with a car at the Middlebelt intersection, police said.

The ambulance was driven by a 24-year-old Detroit man, police said, and was traveling through a red light when the accident occurred. The driver claimed he had the ambulance's red lights and sirens in operation.

A 41-year-old Dearborn Heights woman was the driver of the other vehicle, police said. Her car rolled over following the crash.

She was treated at Ann Arbor Hospital for various injuries.

The accident remains under investigation.

Unemployment dips to new low

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The newly released 7.8 percent national jobless rate is an eight-year high has added new sparks to the Independence Day political and business scene.

The jobless news was no better in Michigan, where the unemployment tallies already at 8.6 percent in May jumped to 8.8 percent in June.

While Congress rushed through a bill to extend jobless benefits once again, many area jobless are crying out for the emphasis on the opposite end of the system--namely in creating more jobs.

Michigan Sen. Donald Riegle of Flint agreed. "We have a job emergency in this country. The Bush administration has no plan for America," he said.

But Wayne County area economic analyst David Littman, senior vice president at Manufacturers Bank, doesn't see any job spurt (particularly in the small and medium size company area) as long as the health care costs remain out of control.

Littman said in addition governmental fiscal policies on a national, state and local level also are out of control as $120 billion in higher taxes have been assessed on various levels in the past two years--the bulk of it $87 billion on the national level... "mainly in the form of Medicare taxes and so called luxury taxes."

Governmental spending policies haven't changed since 1947, Littman complained, "as various governments still spend $1.59 for every dollar they collect in taxes."

"In fact this is one of the rare times in recent history," Littman said, "where government is a hindrance to recovery rather than a catalyst for it. Even in the Reagan years, government cut taxes to spur growth. Today we are still seeing tax growth."

The higher jobless figures spurred partisan politics as usual in an already highly confused election year and is sure to be a main focus in Lansing Friday, when undeclared Presidential candidate H. Ross Perot arrives for a press conference as his Michigan supporters submit more than 300,000 signatures to have Perot's name placed on the November ballot here.

In the meantime Michigan Gov. John Engler ordered the release Thursday of federal dollars that will put 16,000 Michigan youth to work this summer.

The funds should help some Detroit youth in the next two months, but the potential impact was up in the air at this time in the western Wayne area as the total state package of $24 million is much smaller than summer job packages of the past.

In another move area banks lowered their prime rate to 6 percent (a half percent drop), but few analysts believe the action will have much impact on borrowing.

Unlike politicians, "Consumers remain reluctant to incur significant amounts of debt," a Michigan banking spokesman said, "and as long as there is a reluctance to borrow, there is a reluctance to buy."

Volunteers to travel to Lansing

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Scores of Romulus area residents will climb aboard awaiting "Perot for President" buses at 10 a.m. Friday and head for Lansing, where they will witness the submitting of more than 300,000 signatures on Perot petitions and hear their candidate speak to the press.

Dick Gallinat, administrative assistant of the statewide Perot campaign, urged any last minute bus riders to call today to make reservations for the trip to Lansing.

Bus riders need to call 467-5444 to make reservations or stop by Perot's state headquarters at the Royce Hotel. The round trip bus cost is $11.

Local Perot volunteers worked until midnight Wednesday preparing the final copies of Perot for President petitions for the Friday ceremony.

On Thursday, Gallinat said, the local volunteers hope to be able to "take it easy" so that they can enjoy the Friday festivities and prepare for the monumental task beginning Monday of getting Perot elected in November.

the neighborhood.

"We consider it our moral obligation to keep our buildings in even better shape than others in the neighborhood.

"Earlier we purchased an old feed store (on Goddard Road) that was somewhat of an eyesore," Baith said, "and we have made it into an attractive building. Only last month we

The bus group expects to arrive in Lansing about noon to hopefully catch the end of Perot's televised press conference and then join in a political parade.

Nationwide calls from the press have kept local Perot forces extremely busy the past week, Gallinat said.

Despite the fact Perot will be officially on the ballot in at least 30 states by the end of this week, Gallinat said, he doesn't expect to hear Perot officially declare as a candidate on Friday.

"My gut feeling is that he won't officially announce until after the Republican Convention," Gallinat said. "Because that is the time that he said he would be prepared to release his official campaign platform."

There has been no loss of enthusiasm by Perot volunteers in recent days or weeks, he said, if anything the spirit is growing.

Many questions remain to be answered in coming weeks, Gallinat said, including who Perot will select as a running mate. "Every volunteer has his or her favorite, but it is still the premier question of the day," he said.

even added new landscaping."

Several councilmen acknowledged Baith's improvements on the former feed store and praised him for his efforts.

Baith said that he appreciated the cooperation of the city. "You could have been a lot more hard-nosed than you were. Given the time we were allowed, we were able to turn the building into a real plus for the city. That's what we expect to do with our new building," he said.

"Formerly many of these priority decisions were handed down from the federal level," a SEMCOG spokesman said, "now the heaviest part of the decision making process has been switched to the local level."

'Blight bill' awaits final approval

A bill sponsored by State Senator William Faust which will make it easier for local communities to deal with the problem of abandoned and dangerous buildings won final legislative approval Thursday. It will now be sent to the governor to be signed into law.

"Once this bill, Senate Bill 139, becomes law, local communities will have a new weapon with which to fight blight," Senator Faust (D-Westland) said. "This legislation will enable them to expedite the maintenance or demolition of dangerous and abandoned residential and commercial buildings," he added.

Senate Bill 139 will amend the state Housing Law to provide procedures for local governments to maintain or demolish a board of appeals. The bill defines "dangerous buildings" to include buildings with structural damage that do not meet the minimum requirements of the Michigan Housing Act or local building codes; a building with all or part of the structure that could fall; and a deteriorated building which could become a danger to children or become a harbor for vagrants or unlawful acts.

Additionally, buildings that remain unoccupied for 180 or more days and are not listed for sale or lease with a real estate broker are considered dangerous.

U.S. Savings Bonds Make Great Gifts.

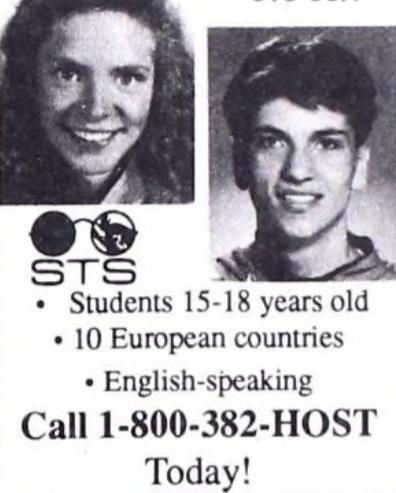

If a building is found to be dangerous, notice is served of a hearing on the structure. If an individual does not comply with an order of the local government or board of appeals concerning the building, he or she would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Senate Bill 139 was tied to House Bills 4148 and 4527, which also would broaden the ability of local communities to seize abandoned, dangerous property to maintain or demolish. The bills would allow local governments to recoup demolition costs from absentee landlords by permitting liens to be placed on other property of the owner. Both House bills have received final legislative approval.

Rodeo ropes in Western touch to festival

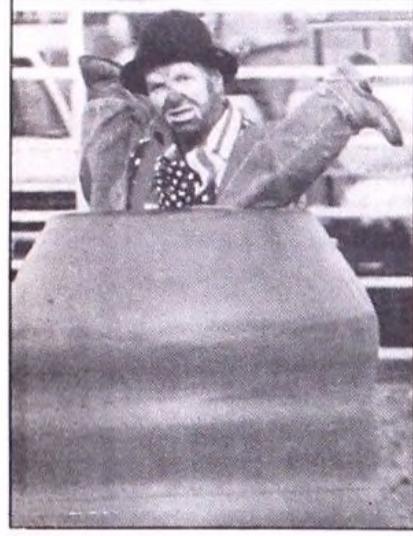

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Bull riding, calf roping and barrel racing are among the Wagon Wheel Rodeo events slated at the Sumpter Fest this month.

Shows at 7:30 p.m. July 17 and 18 will bring top "cowboys on cow ponies" to the arena, along with cowgirls and rodeo clown John Hayden.

Hayden performs with a barrel-racing sheepdog and a trick-performing miniature mule.

tion, Hayden brings out his sheepdog, Gilley, to perform cloverleaf patterns around the barrels.

"If I ever lose track of Gilley, all I have to do is to look in the front seat of the pickup truck. That's his favorite spot. He's always ready to travel on down the road," said Hayden, who raised the 10-year-old Australian shepherd.

In addition to the western flavor provided by the rodeo, the July 15-19 Sumpter Fest will feature a variety of events. A classic car show, carnival, amusement rides, bingo and entertainers are slated on the schedule of events.

Appearing again this year due to the enthusiastic responses received in past festivals are singer Tracey Lynne, Elvis-impersonator Sherman Arnold and the Strings 'n' Things Band, said Sumpter Fest committee member Mary Herring.

Lynne, a country singer, will appear at 8 p.m. July 17 and Arnold will perform at 1 p.m. July 19. Strings 'n' Things will perform at 8 p.m. July 18.

In addition, the Wade Amusement Carnival will set up rides and events at 5 p.m. July 15 and continue through 11 p.m. July 19. The Wagon Wheel Rodeo is slated to perform at 7:30 p.m. July 17 and 7:30 p.m. July 18, and the Demolition Derby is scheduled at 7 p.m. July 19.

Grampa Gratchet has been invited to entertain children and adults in three shows daily on the Sumpter Community Center grounds. Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again!

The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

The "slows", or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to root-

Council agrees to link city offices

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Wayne city council members recently agreed to spend no more than $299,860 for the installation, maintenance and training of a new computer system supplied by First Computer Inc. which will link up all city offices.

The purchase was a result of a Management Information System (MIS) five years master plan, according to Bill Richards, assistant to the city manager.

"Plante and Moran, the city's consultant for implementation of year one of the adopted MIS plan, developed a request for proposal for year one implementation as directed by the council," Richards said. "The MIS committee has reviewed, re-designed and re-negotiated the proposals with the vendors that submitted a request for proposal and were identified by Plante and Moran as being capable of achieving the goal of a city-wide 'networked system'."

Once the system is completed, it will maximize network efficiencies, incorporate current technologies, upgrade disc/memory capacity, software applications, process speed and back-up capability and user training/user friendliness, according to Richards.

The other major considerations of the MIS Committee was future adaptability of the network including:

- Expandability-designed to accommodate future needs.
- Flexibility-maximize system ability to accommodate future departmental considerations.
- Convertibility-system designed to accommodate migration of software from proprietary to open system.

The system will be invaluable to the city according to City Manager John Zech.

"We do recommend this system," Zech said. "Cost for the project is in the present budget."

Local auto theft unit funding jeopardized

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The continued hassle over auto insurance issues in the Michigan state legislature could place the Western Wayne Auto Unit (and 36 other similar police units across the state) in jeopardy in a few weeks.

The legislators failed to solve the auto insurance deadlock this past week and now must return Wednesday to sort out the issues and approve a new grant for these special anti-car theft units.

In the past fiscal year, the grant funds issued through the Michigan Auto Theft Prevention Authority totaled $7.4 million for 37 special units across the state.

The local office headed by Detective Lt. Sandra Miller of the State Police is serviced by 11 law enforcement officials (state and local police officers). The grant is funded by the $1 allotment each vehicle owner pays on his or her vehicle insurance.

If the grant is not continued, a spokesperson said, six of the 11 agents assigned to the Auto Unit here could be cut, unless alternate funding is arranged. Three of the officers now are from the Romulus, Wayne and Van Buren Township Police Departments.

In addition the funding allows the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to assign two assistant prosecutors strictly to auto theft cases, greatly increasing the chance for successful convictions.

Those assistant prosecutors would then be placed back on general duty if the grant process dies this week.

In Western Wayne County alone, the unit officers have conducted 177 investigations in the first five months of 1992, compared to 152 in a similar period last year.

They also have made 34 arrests and recovered 117 vehicles valued at more than $836,000 in the same five-month period. The figures for early 1991 were 28 arrests, 79 vehicles recovered valued at $760,000.

Early this year the special agents arrested a suspect stealing hubcaps in the Metro Airport area and as a bonus found that he was wanted in connection with several area bank robberies.

Most recently the Western Wayne unit nabbed two Ford Motor Company employees and charged them with systematically stealing car parts by taping them to their bodies.

The defendants, Mohamed Hamood, 43, of Allen Park, and Joseph Mullen, 41, of Lincoln Park, were charged with 12 counts of larceny from a building, larceny of property over $100 and conspiracy.

Doing the right thing

The recent lawsuit filed against the city of Wayne by the management at Hickory Hollow Cooperative is a sad lesson in the politics and philosophies which exist today.

Were we not personally acquainted with many of the individuals involved, our perspective in the matter could be far more clear, but as it is, with the special knowledge we do have, we admit our judgment is clouded.

We agree, wholeheartedly, that there is no place for racism in our world today and that each of us must make an effort every day to stop this insidious threat to our society. Racism is ugly, irrational and stupid. It is the funder which sustains small minds and keeps us from becoming what we need to be as a global society. Those are our beliefs and that is our philosophy and we work very hard to put those morals into practice every day.

We agree, totally, with the management at Hickory Hollow in their claim that remarks made about the racial blend and crime based on race made by two Wayne police dispatchers attempting to advise a potential resident against moving to the complex were racist and improper. We agree with them further that there is no place for this kind of attitude or behavior in the police department or in any municipal or government office of any kind. They are, we feel, absolutely correct, in their outrage and their anger and have a right to demand that this be publicized and corrected.

And we feel that has been done.

Long before the lawsuit, measures were taken within the Wayne Police Department to halt any thought of such conduct again. The dispatchers in question were both disciplined and counseled regarding the incident and the responsibility of their jobs. Both Police Chief Art Morton who has since retired and Deputy Director John Colligan, who is now chief, men whom we respect and admire, took full responsibility for the performance of these two employees. They admitted culpability in the matter and took appropriate action to ensure that such conduct would not be repeated.

All of the city of Wayne leaders and officials were embarrassed and critical of the conduct of these dispatchers and fully understood the seriousness and the full implications of the situation.

There is no prevailing attitude of racism throughout the Wayne Police Department. There is no such attitude in city management or among the elected officials. And while the management at Hickory Hollow is certainly on solid legal ground with the suit and well within their rights to demand correction of the situation, we feel strongly that the correct action has already been taken.

The allegation that public safety officers may not respond as quickly to one ethnic community as to another is, to us, the epitome of racism. The claim that firefighters may not be sent to a black home to save lives as promptly as to one owned by whites smacks of ignorance. The idea that an ambulance would be sent to a white neighborhood over a black one in an instance of a simultaneous emergency is the inflammatory rhetoric of the paranoid racist who works at perpetuating the very ideas which should be destroyed.

We do not believe that any of these allegations or charges bear any semblance of possibility in the city of Wayne.

We understand the desire for publicity of the situation many may feel. It may be human nature to demand that others realize that such a victimization may have taken place—but it seems somewhat untoward to not include a full acknowledgement of the steps taken to correct the wrong which was done.

If the publicity will stimulate awareness of the problem and the existence of such attitudes, then it is appropriate and of value. But once again, we caution publicity which does not include the effort made by the city of Wayne, at every level, to do the right thing.

New board member expresses thanks

To the editor:

As I approached my first day as a Wayne-Westland school board member, I would like to express my sincere thanks to the voters of the school district for their support in the June 8 election.

During my campaign, I attended numerous community functions, walked through neighborhoods and talked with people who had legitimate concerns regarding the schools. Not only did this give me a chance to share my views, but it gave me additional insight into the hunger that our citizens and our communities have for a change in the educational direction of our district.

I am truly fortunate to have been given this enormous responsibility and am very much aware that the voters have set high expectations for my performance.

I look forward to working with my colleagues, school district personnel, and citizens, to deliver an educational package which will propel us to new, exciting heights.

Riots prompt residents' questions

To the editor:

In the wake of the recent civil unrest, people across the country are asking the same question. Why? Why did "they" do it? Why did we have to do it?

Millions of people have come to this country, and migrated to the industrialized areas, for the same reason. They all share a desire for the American Dream. It includes the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Over the years, some of these basic rights have been "alienated". We've seen "guilty until proven innocent", we've seen the criminal justice system give more emphasis to the criminal. We've seen American homelessness take a back seat to that in emerging nations; we've seen the standard of our educational system fail our students and promote hopelessness.

Yet the biggest blow of all has been the devaluation of the American worker. The very industries which made their money on the backs of the common laborer, have turned their backs.

America has ignored some of her children. She puts her athletes on an Olympic pedestal. She holds her academics lovingly in her hands. She beams when her entertainers perform. But what of her other children? When they needed her the most, she was unavailable.

She was too busy feeding the children of Eastern Europe to deal with the hunger of East Detroit. She wept for the inhabitants of Northern Ireland, and drowned out the cries of despair in her northern cities. Her concern for the violation in South Africa, took her away from the violation of the South Bronx. She waged a war for the citizens of Kuwait City, when the citizens of Kansas City were under siege in urban crime. She was on the line fighting unrest in Central America, and missed the call Central Los Angeles.

Well, Los Angeles called back. The toll of this call will be measured in the loss of life, property and spirit.

In no way do I excuse violence and lawlessness. However, when I see man running from a looted store with disposable diapers and a gallon of milk, I have to wonder about his needs.

During the Harlem Renaissance a great Afro-American poet, Langston Hughes, posed a similar question. (Lenox Avenue Murial)

What happens to a dream deferred?

Does it dry up
like a raisin in the sun?
Or fester like a sore
And then run?

Does it stink like rotten meat?
Or crust and sugar over like a syrupy sweet?

Maybe it just sags like a heavy load.
Or does it explode?

Truck route riles residents

To the editor:

We are a group formed out of desperation. We have requested our concern to be heard by the Van Buren Township board on their agenda of July 7, 1992. (We turned in our request by hand one (1) week earlier than necessary)

We are residents of Van Buren Township and our homes are on Van Born and Haggerty Roads.

One Hundred and Twenty (120) garbage trucks per day - six (6) days per week are what we have been informed by Mr. Mike Miller of Wayne Disposal-Canton, Inc. to expect in front of our homes! All because "COSMETIC CANTON TOWNSHIP" does not want their garbage trucks to enter their garbage dump through their township!

This is Canton Township's new proposed garbage dump on Lilley Road between Michigan Ave. and Van Born. (not the one at Hannan Road and Van Born)

The agreement between Canton Twp. and Wayne Disposal-Canton, Inc., page 11 item number 10 directs the garbage trucks to use the Van Born/Lilley Road intersection. Entirely in Van Buren Twp.! Not in the agreement, but also instructed, the garbage trucks to exit I-275 at Ecorse Road rather than Michigan Avenue. Also entirely in Van Buren Township!

Van Born has twenty (20) Van Buren Township residential homes directly effected by the impact of 120 garbage trucks which will feel the effect of those that exit I-275 at Ecorse.

One of the owner's of Wayne Disposal-Canton, Inc., Mr. Michael Ferrantino, Jr., said that they prefer to enter the garbage dump from Michigan Avenue; more lanes, space, etc. Canton Township does not want the evidence - just the CASH! (my words not his).

We are in hopes of changing Canton township's mind about using Van Born as their gateway. We would appreciate anything and everything that our Township, Van Buren can/will do on our behalf.

Our spokesperson is Mr. John Sherry - 397-1344. I can be reached at 397-3924. If you have any further questions you may contact either John or myself.

Maybe the Power of the Press can help.

School fund stand blasted

To the editor:

It is hard to believe that the Governor and the State Legislature of Michigan could possibly come up with a more ridiculous school finance plan than Tax Base Sharing (Robin Hood) where a community is required to share its property taxes with other communities.

The residents and government of Canton have worked very hard to create a community which is safe, pleasant, and attractive for residential and business property owners. The Plymouth Canton School District has a good school system which is also quite cost efficient. Now the State of Michigan wants to take away the property tax dollars which belong to the people of the Plymouth Canton District and transfer this money to other school districts where these funds could be completely wasted.

What upsets me is that Mr. Kosteva, the State Representative from Canton, has voted for this totally ridiculous Tax Base Sharing Plan. Maybe Mr. Kosteva thinks the people of Canton are not paying enough property taxes or maybe the Plymouth Canton Schools should be punished for some reason. As far as I know, Mr. Kosteva was the only State Representative from Western Wayne County, whose district is losing tax money, to vote for this tax sharing scheme.

Right now it seems the court system is the only hope we have to stop this unfair tax sharing plan, since this plan is now tied up in the courts. In the next election, I will be sure to vote for a representative who will vote to keep Canton's property taxes in Canton where they belong. Remember, a community is only as good as its schools.

Artists prepare displays for 31st annual Wyandotte Street Art Fair

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A caricaturist and stamp-maker are among the scores of artists who will display their works at the 31st annual Wyandotte Street Art Fair July 15 through 18.

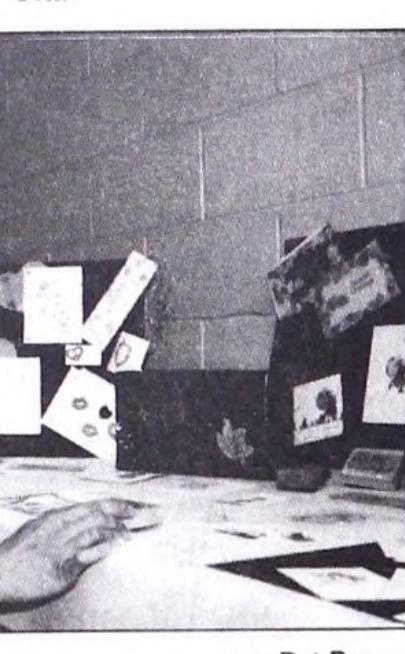

Caricaturist Byron Hunter, who attended the Center for Creative Studies, was a hit at the 1991 art fair and is looking forward to his participation in the event this year in Booth 210.

"I display a caricature of Arsenio Hall that attracts a lot of attention. Once people see Arsenio's picture, they become interested in having a drawing of themselves. I find some interesting feature about them, and draw from that," Hunter said. "I never studied caricature. I just developed my style as I went along."

Art fair officials reported that last year Hunter created a traffic jam around his booth and fans stayed past closing time to have the caricaturist draw their likenesses.

Dot Baccari, who is displaying handcrafted stamps in Booth 55, began her craft by making stamps for her young son.

Dot Baccari

"He had alphabet stamps, and really enjoyed playing with them. Later, he asked for more stamps and I made some for him. My business evolved from that. I have some 500 stamps," Baccari said. "About 20 to 25 percent of the stamps I sell are holiday-based. People buy them to make their personalized Christmas cards. Teachers also are always in the market for stamps for their projects."

Baccari, who has participated in the art fair three times, noted that fantasy stamps are popular at the Wyandotte event.

L.M. (Pete) Bucher, the commander of the U.S.S. Pueblo, will be the featured guest artist.

Bucher, a graduate of Boys Town, Neb., served in the U.S. Navy for 27 years. He was the commander of the Pueblo when it was captured by the North Koreans in 1986. Bucher and his crew were held captive for 11 months.

Following his retirement from the Navy, he studied illustration at the Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, Cal. He paints with watercolors and combines realism with abstracts.

More than 350 of Bucher's paintings are in private collections.

Visitors to the art fair can meet Bucher in Booth 151.

More than 360 artists booths will be placed throughout six blocks of the central business district along with 23 food concessions and sidewalk sales by merchants.

The Children's Emporium, a special area for children, 12 and younger, will feature items for children to purchase. Proceeds from the sales will be used for an art scholarship.

The 12th annual Old World Arts and Crafts area will be located at the First United Methodist Church of Wyandotte from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

So where'd I go wrong?

JUST DESSERTS

By Susan Willett

It was bright and early one morning last week and along with numerous other folks in the area, I was motoring down Wayne Road on my way to the office.

Thinking pleasant thoughts, admiring the sunshine and grateful for the fact I was having a good-hair day, my mood was as close to pleasant as I ever get. I am the woman, you recall, whose staff refers to as the b——h goddess from hell, so all of the above information is well worth noting.

My mood lasted as long as it took me to drive from Cowan to Ford Road where I encountered a certain Westland Police officer. While I won't repeat his name here, in an effort to protect the guilty, the man shattered my mood for that week and this one. Frankly, I haven't been the same since. And, no, the staff doesn't consider it an improvement, not at all.

There I was, stopped at the light in the left lane when I glanced over to my right to observe the handsomest police man I have EVER seen behind the wheel of his official vehicle. He was one of those recruitment-poster types—very tall, very muscular and lean and a look of kindness but strength. You get the idea.

As I glanced at this epitome of official public servant, my heart caught in my throat. Tears welled up and I was sure I would literally burst with admiration for him.

I admit it. I lost control. I was a slave to my emotions. Married to the finest man in the world or not, I fell prey to temptation. I couldn't help myself. I did it. I beeped my horn and waved at the man with wild abandon.

He looked over at me, with a smile. When he saw me, his look turned to one of exasperation and derision. He sort of half waved in my direction as a gesture of pure dismissal of my attentions.

The rejection has been more than I can bear. I've been brooding ever since. What did I do wrong. Did I wave too vigorously? Should I have waited for him to notice me first? Should I have been more subtle? What did I do that I should have done differently?

But the most pressing question plaguing me since the incident is this.

Was that any way for a man to treat his mother?

I'll fix him. No more of these cookies, which happen to be one of his favorites.

Pecan Crisps

1 1/4 cups chopped pecans
2 1/3 cups all-purpose or unbleached white flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup unsalted butter, softened
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 large egg
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Spread pecans in a single layer in large baking pan and toast in the oven for 7 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally, until fragrant and browned. Remove from oven and set aside until cool.

Thoroughly stir together flour, baking soda and salt.

Summertime Salads

It's hot outside.

The kids are cranky, the boss has turned into a werewolf and all the neighbors make way too much noise way too early in the morning and far too late at night. Your spouse makes Godzilla seem merely out of sorts by comparison and the bathroom scale has become your mortal enemy.

Time for an attitude adjustment.

Try the curative powers of crisp, fresh vegetables mixed together in wonderful combinations and then covered with creative and incredible dressings. It may not sound like much, but it does wonders for mind and body to crunch those crisp vegetables between the teeth and experience the combination of textures and flavors salads can provide.

And, you'll feel better. All those vitamins and minerals will have an effect, and even if it's only psychological making you THINK you're doing something healthy and slimming, it will work.

Now is the perfect time to indulge in all the vegetables a refrigerator will hold, and that many can probably be had for less than a meal might cost with the abundance prevalent in the produce markets these days.

These are wonderful salads, some slimming and some downright sinful. But all very, very good.

Spinach and Orange Salad with Honey-Caraway Dressing

Salad:

10 ounces fresh spinach
1 medium head iceberg lettuce
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 small cucumber, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 large oranges, peeled, seeded and chopped

Rinse and drain spinach and lettuce; refrigerate. About 30 minutes before serving, tear spinach and lettuce into bite-size pieces. Mix with remaining ingredients in large salad bowl. Before serving, toss with Honey-Caraway Dressing to coat ingredients.

Honey-Caraway Dressing:
3/4 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon caraway seed

In a small bowl, stir all ingredients together with a fork or whisk until blended. Yields one cup.

Sesame Chicken Salad

8 chicken breast halves, cooked, boned and chopped
1 pound snow peas, sliced diagonally
1 8-ounce can sliced water chestnuts, drained
8 green onions, tops included, sliced
1 cup sesame seeds, toasted
Salt and pepper to taste
Dressing:
4 tablespoons dry sherry
2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup vegetable oil
Dash Tabasco sauce

Combine chicken, snow peas, water chestnuts, onions, sesame seeds, salt and pepper. In separate bowl, combine sherry, egg yolks, lemon juice, mustard, soy sauce, sugar and ginger. Add oil gradually until well mixed. Add Tabasco. Pour over chicken and toss. Serve slightly chilled. Serves eight.

Broccoli Salad

1 1/2 - 2 pounds fresh broccoli spears
1 7-ounce jar pimiento-stuffed olives, drained
1/2 cup chopped onion
3 hard-cooked eggs, peeled and chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup mayonnaise

Cook broccoli slightly (should remain crisp). Drain and cool. Cut into 1-inch pieces and combine with remaining ingredients. Chill.

Marinated Cucumber Salad

2 medium cucumbers, thinly sliced
1 medium onion, sliced and separated into rings
2 cups thinly sliced carrots
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 cup vinegar
1/4 cup vegetable oil
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Leaf lettuce

Combine cucumbers, onion, carrots and celery in a large bowl. In a separate bowl, mix remaining ingredients except lettuce. Pour over vegetables and toss lightly. Cover and chill 8 to 10 hours. Drain and serve in a lettuce-lined bowl.

Asparagus Salad

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups water, divided
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
2 4-ounce jars chopped pimento, drained
1-10 1/2 ounce can asparagus, drained and cut in 1-inch pieces
1 8-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and coarsely chopped
1 cup chopped pecans
Mayonnaise

Sprinkle gelatin into half cup of cold water in mixing bowl. Set aside. In a saucepan, bring sugar, vinegar and 1 cup water to a boil; combine with gelatin and stir to dissolve. Stir in onion, celery, lemon juice and salt. Chill about 25 minutes or until slightly set. Fold in pimento, asparagus, water chestnuts and pecans, reserving 2 tablespoons of pecans for garnish. Pour into lightly oiled 6 to 8 cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and top with mayonnaise and pecans. Serves eight to 10.

Clinic cures basketball foul-ups

Thirty-four youngsters sharpened their basketball skills in a week-long clinic taught by Wayne Memorial High School head basketball coach Chuck Henry.

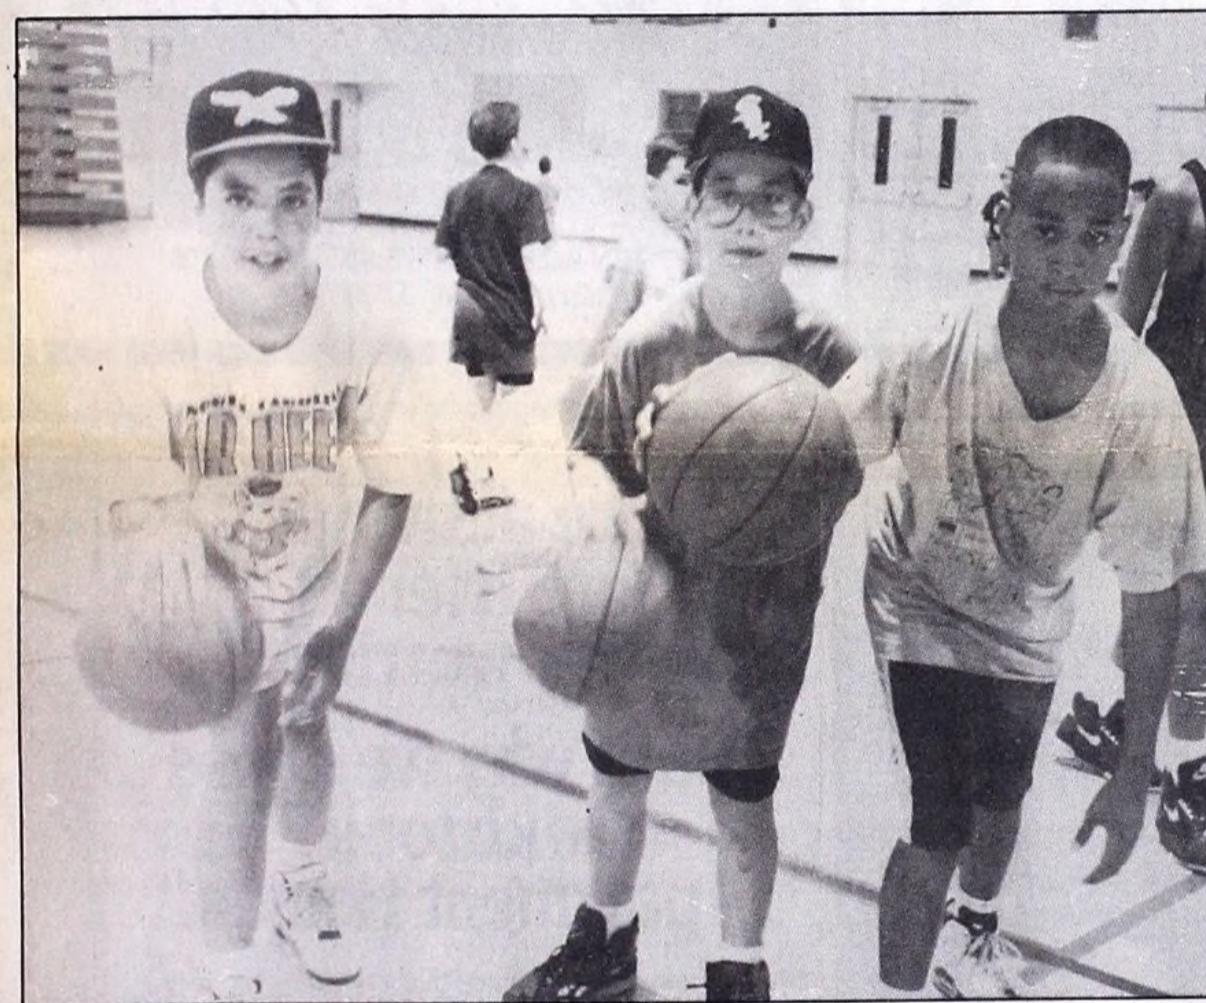

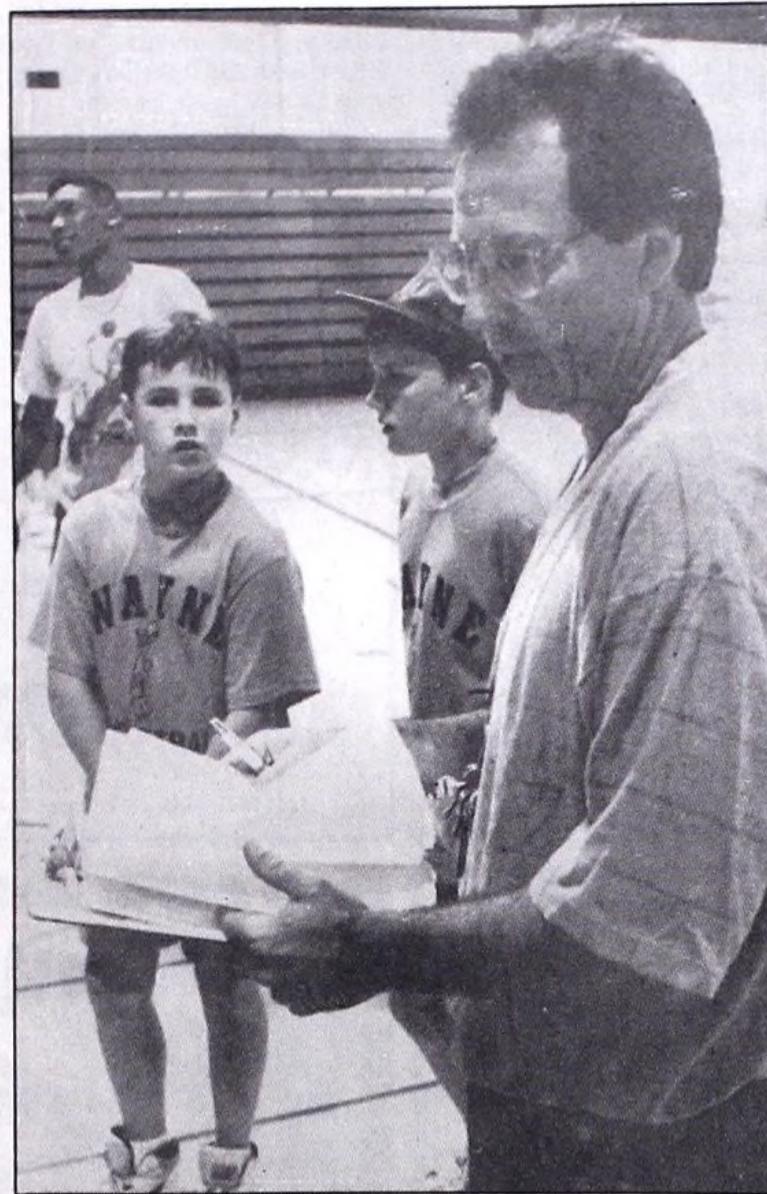

"During the week, the kids practiced foul shots, one-on-one and total team action," Henry said. "The youngsters, fourth- to eighth-graders, met two hours each day to get an edge on their basketball skills for next season."

Phil Baker, 10, a student at St. Mary's School in Wayne, said he hopes the week-long clinic will boost his ability to play next season.

"I like basketball, and I want to play better," said 11-year-old Terry Turner.

Jennifer Dormitorio, 12, Rachel Marek, 11, Becky Green, 11, and Margie Henry, 8, joined the mostly male group to improve their games.

"It's fun," said Becky.

Wayne Memorial varsity basketball coach Chuck Henry (top photo) checks the assignment sheet for camp participant Phil Becker, while in the photo immediately above, future all-stars Lou Krause, 13, Terry Turner, 11, and John Krause, also 11, prepare to execute dribbling drills. The two-week camp, staged annually at Wayne, lured more than 30 players this year. Henry, one of the more successful coaches in the area, was the 1992 Coach of the Year for the Associated Newspapers.

Former professional baseball stars will be coming to Van Buren Township to conduct a baseball camp this weekend.

Among the instructors are "Buck" Miller, who played with the Detroit Tigers' organization, and Ron Way, a Wayne Memorial pitching ace who went on to play for the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Dave Jennings, the assistant coach at Wayne State University.

Add the name of Dave Maron, who played with the Toronto Blue Jays for three years, to the list of visiting coaches.

Wayne cager shines

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A Wayne cager is among those who received honors during the annual Sports Banquet at the Michigan School for the Deaf.

Kelly Reckinger, a multi-talented athlete, was recognized for her performance in basketball and track. She was awarded varsity numerals in both sports.

Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reckinger of Wayne.

The Flint-based Michigan School for the Deaf is a Class D residential high school, which except for special tournaments, competes against hearing schools.

Kelly was also active in other school activities, including Singing Hands, Junior National Association for the Deaf, and drama.

In April, Kelly attended Close-up, a five-day workshop on American Government conducted in Washington D.C.

Top softball teams to compete for Anderson Memorial title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With nine of the teams already clinching berths for the World Softball Invitational, the field for 16th annual Leonard J. Anderson Memorial Softball Tournament promises to be one of the strongest in recent Michigan softball history.

The tournament will be staged in Wayne three days, starting July 24.

"The Lenny Anderson tournament has grown over the years and has developed into one of the best of its kind," noted Larry Quartuccio, tournament manager. "Many of the state's top teams and players will be playing right here in Wayne."

The tournament is cosponsored by the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department and J & K Transportation. It honors the memory of Patrolman Len Anderson, who was killed May 24, 1974, responding to a domestic call. Anderson was the first and only Wayne police officer killed in the line of duty.

The tournament field includes Ford Adray, which captured the men's Class A World Industrial championship last year and finished third in the Anderson Tournament a year ago.

Also, SDM and Nothdurft Tool, both eastside powerhouses, will be battling it out for the title. Nothdurft has won six national championships and is the defending Anderson champ.

"They look like the team to beat in this tournament," Quartuccio said. "But, it will be a dogfight right to the end. You can bet on that."

Also accepting an invitation to play is J & K

Transportation, the runner up a year ago, and which is battling for the super "B" league championship.

Adray Sound, ranked in the top five in the nation in the men's USSSA Over 30 Division, and Mule's/South Lyon Hotel, are other serious contenders for the Anderson title. Look for Champion's Softball Club, coming off of a big victory recently in Cleveland, where they won a national invitational title, isn't being counted out of the title race.

All games will be played at the Leonard J. Anderson Softball Field, located behind the Wayne Community Center, Howe and Indianapolis roads.

Quartuccio said that tournament programs will be available, free of charge, at the tournament or fans may pick them up at the Wayne Community Center starting July 20.

National honors

Inkster sprinters 'earn respect'

Inkster sprinters, under the guidance of coach Keith Bailey, established themselves as among the best in the nation at a national track and field meet staged in Alabama during the weekend.

Competing against their peers from across the nation, the Inkster Track Club 400-meter relay finished in fourth place.

The team of Ellisa Johnson, Charnell Lynn, Tameka Gibson and Katesiha Frazier was clocked in 50.03.

"That time was good enough to win the Class B state championship," said Bailey. "Obviously, we're darn proud of these kids. And these are kids, some of whom have three more years of high school competition ahead of them."

The Southern California Cheetahs won the event.

Inkster also received a superb performance from Kemoni Bozeman, who was coming off of an exceptional performance at the Detroit Martin Luther King High School Invitational where he captured three gold medals.

Bozeman had won the 100-meters (11.1), 400-meters (51.5) and helped the 400-meter relay finish first. That relay also featured Chip Brown, Chris Polk and Brian Jackson.

In Alabama, Bozeman contributed a 12-place finish in the 400-meters. He was clocked in 52.1.

Inkster missed winning the 400-meter run in the women's division when Lynn was forced to the sidelines with a muscle spasm. She had the event's best time (57.11) in the preliminary.

"I had to scratch her in the finals because she (Lynn) was hurting with a leg muscle spasm," Bailey said. "I think that was the biggest disappointment of the trip for us."

need of qualified football coaches for their junior and varsity clubs.

"We would obviously prefer that the coaches have experience dealing with young kids," said Janis Burleson, who is the public relations person for the Lions. "But if they have played football and have a desire to coach the sport, we will gladly talk to the potential candidate."

If you believe you can fill the shoes, contact Janis Burleson at 397-1720. You can also contact the Lions at P.O. Box 871068, Canton, Mich. 48187-1068.

'Cinderella team'

The never-say-die attitude paid off for the Broncos, who endured a winless 0-13 regular season, but came back in the playoffs to win the American Division tournament championship in the Westland Youth Athletic Association. Members of the championship team include: Josh Jensen (front row, from left), Lonnie Harper, Eric Pirtle, Jason Thomas and Mark Lear; second row are manager Fred Hagelthorn, Bobby Hagelthorn, Charles Bailey, Steve Zielinski, Brad Wilks, Mark Merlo, and Coach Dave Zielinski.

An Air Force fighter jet draws crowds of visitors eager to take a look at the cockpit during the Air Show Saturday.

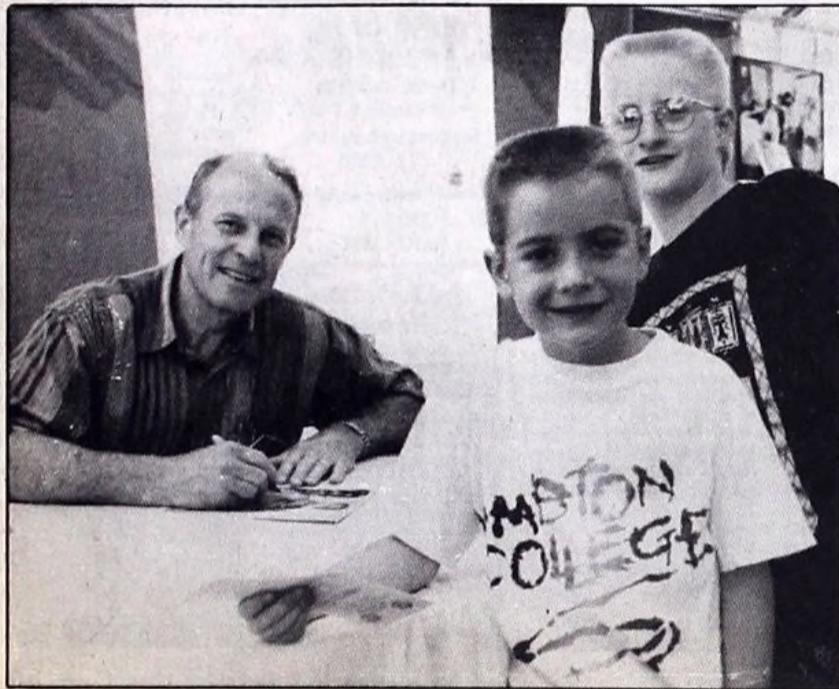

Showing off

Crowds estimated at 35,000 on Saturday and 45,000 on Sunday enjoyed the spectacular Air Michigan Air Show at Willow Run Airport. Spectators were treated to the sight of the Italian Air Force Frecce Tricolori, Team America and the North Coast Aerial Circus. Additionally, the F-17A Stealth Fighter made a single appearance each day, prompting many viewers to wonder why there was no repeat appearance of the fighter each day. According to the show organizers, only one fly-by each day was allowed due to the schedule and the need for expensive and dangerous in-flight refueling to allow for more than one appearance of the super-sophisticated plane. Many spectators noticed the ease of parking at the show this year and the shuttle service to the viewing area from parking locations. All in all, the show received rave reviews and record-breaking crowds are predicted for next year.

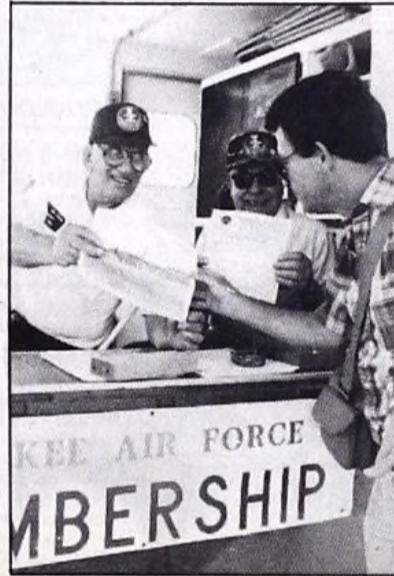

Photos by Joan Dyer-Zinner

Drawing as big a crowd of admirers and animal lovers as the planes at the Air Show were Wayne County Sheriff's Mounted Patrol Deputies Jim Randall, left, and Paul Nowak. The officers and their mounts continued to draw throngs of admiring fans throughout both days of the festival and were as much an attraction as a safety measure, according to many visitors.

Astronaut Jack Lousma, left, delighted Brenden Fraser, 7, and Norman Fraser, 12, both of Sarnia, Ont. who attended the show hoping to meet the world-famous hero.

Good Health

Dr. Pitts is the chief of Psychiatry at Annapolis Hospital-Westland Center. The center operates Michigan's first hospital-based Pet-Therapy Program.

THINKING OF GETTING A PET? THEY CAN MAKE YOU HAPPIER AND HEALTHIER

by Kenneth Pitts, M.D.

For years, scientific studies have proven that pet owners are generally healthier and happier than those who remain petless. Why? Probably because animals provide that elusive gift we all long for — unconditional love.

Relationships can come and go, but pets remain

Without friendship and love, the world would be a lonely place. Many studies have shown that married couples are more healthy, physically and mentally, than single and divorced individuals. But for people who find themselves alone — whether single, divorced, childless, or widowed — a pet is the perfect companion.

Pets offer the healthy advantage that any relationship offers. They reach out to their owner with love and affection, and need to be taken care of and loved in return. This gives lonely people a sense of worth and responsibility, which helps enhance their overall well-being.

Pets help ease depression/shyness

Individuals who suffer from depression tend to be self-occupied and moody, which makes it difficult to establish a healthy friendship. Pets, however, won't let an owner's depression get them down. They reach out in a safe, friendly, and non-threatening way.

For people who have difficulty establishing relationships, a pet is a wonderful way to learn and grow. Animals are affectionate, loyal, and accepting, no matter what a person looks like or how well they relate to other people. Many times, extremely shy people have been able to open up to other individuals and establish friendships after bonding with a pet.

Pets teach children responsibility

Children benefit in a special way from pets because they learn early on about unconditional love and acceptance, and how to be responsible for another living creature.

On a more somber note, the death of a pet teaches the child how to work through the experience of loss. Although it is sad, a child learns and accepts that death is a part of life.

Pets are more than cuddly and cute ... They'll be your friend to the end!

Summer is car check-up time

Mechanics crawling over, around and under your car like ants at a picnic are no fun when you're 200 miles from home, and the children are squealing, "Are we there, yet?"

Statistics dispel the idea that cars don't break down when the weather is warm and sunny. Between June 1 and Aug. 31 last year, officials from AAA Michigan answered 184,000 emergency road service calls for help throughout the state, of 22.7 percent of the 811,000 calls serviced for the year.

To avoid problems, officials from the Auto Club suggest a summer car check and preventative maintenance.

"The same things you do to your car ready for winter apply in the summer," said Gerald Gutowski, AAA Michigan Emergency Road Service manager.

First, he recommends reviewing car care information in the owner's manual to find when certain maintenance procedures should be taken. That information, along with following common sense tips, goes a long way toward ensuring a trouble-free summer.

Gutowski notes that more miles are traveled on state roads during the summer than at any other time of the year. Officials from the Michigan Department of Transportation estimate that motorists drive 2 billion more miles in summer than in winter.

The following is a list of what to check before taking a trip:

- Tires, for wear and tear and proper inflation.
- Radiator, coolant level and strength.
- Oil level
- Hoses and belts, replace if swollen, cracked or frayed.
- Transmission fluid.

• Tune engine as recommended.

Gutowski also suggests special attention should be devoted to the brakes of a car. It's time for immediate inspection if brakes are spongy, pulsating, if the pedal goes too far to the floor or if a grinding noise is heard.

He urges that windshield wiper blades be replaced if they streak. Keep the windshield solvent reservoir full. Lights should be replaced when burned out.

And know what your car can do. Check the owner's manual for towing weights to avoid expensive damage if pulling a trailer.

Then, it's pamper time. A clean, sparkling car might not run any better, but it will look better. Remember, it got you through winter; so, it's payback time.

and handling."

All V-6 equipped Tempos offer a touring suspension with performance tires, tuned gas shock absorbers and rear stabilizer bar. GLS versions have a sport suspension for performance minded drivers.

The GLS has been restyled using new bumper-and-bodyside cladding, fog lamps, bright exhaust tips, 15-inch aluminum wheels and performance tires to create a sporty European look. The two-door GLS also comes with a stylish decklid spoiler.

Also new for 1992 is SEFI on the Tempo standard 2.3 liter four-cylinder engine contributing to a quieter, more fuel-efficient car. A single-belt accessory-drive system is an additional refinement which reduces noise and increases reliability.

Styling changes for the 1992 Tempo line include a new color-keyed bodyside molding that give Tempo a monochromatic look.

"Tempo gives price-conscious consumers a value-added compact car that doesn't compromise on quality or styling," Roberts said.

Tempo has been a perennial top-10 nameplate since 1984, following the public introduction in May of 1983. The car line has special appeal to buyers who are seeking contemporary styling in a best-value product.

Tempo seats five passengers and comes in three series: The GL and GLS in two-door and four-door sedans and the LX in a four-door sedan.
